One of our Grange friends in Shelburne, N. H., passed away this week, Mrs. Chester Hayes. They have been frequent visitors in this area and have been most helpful in Grange work.

I visited Lizzie Russ, Carla Bennett and Mamie Chandler at the Ledgewick Memorial Home about two minutes and a half. I was sorry I couldn't stop longer but promised to be at Letty Brooks' at three which needless to say I didn't quite make. Letty typed some copies of the "Grange Calling Card" for me to send to the State. Lecturer, June Burke.

Letty invited me to supper, so I had a delicious oyster stew and strawberries before returning home.

May and how wonderful to see the grasses turn green! Up until Friday we had beautiful spring days and then Friday and the weekend were either overcast or rainy. Wednesday, some of the Chapmans on the hill and friends went down the river and after the rains Friday the river swelled up and once again covered the interval. Sunday, even though it was overcast, I was able to go out and work on the raspberries. As of yet, no mosquitoes; but imagine after a few more good days we will have to begin to put on repellants. It doesn't seem as though we are ever satisfied.

Bob Stearns went into St. Mary's Hospital, Tuesday, April 24, was discharged on April 27.

April 26 Debbie Seames and Linda Gibbs gave a combined birthday party for Dawn Seames who was three April 25, Ryan Seames who was one April 26 and Heather Gibbs, who was one on April 27, at the Seames home.

Those attending were Judy Coolidge, Jessica and Sarah, Elaine Hutchins and Misty; Kathy Mason, Jennifer and Chuck IV; Ruthie Mason and Joyce Stearns. Those who couldn't come were Robin and Jason Fraser of Newry, Jane Smith and Crystal and Great Grammie Murphy of Bethel.

April 28 after the party, Debbie Seames went down with her mother, Mrs. Joyce Stearns, to see her father, Bob Stearns, at St. Mary's. Dawn spent the afternoon with Judy Coolidge, Sarah and Jessie and Ryan visited Great Grammie Murphy until his Grammie Seames of Locke Mills picked him up.

April 27 Dawn spent the morning with Auntie Ruth Mason and Ryan with Great Grammie Murphy while Debbie Seames and Joyce Stearns went to pick up Bob from the hospital.

April 29 Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Seames had a belated birthday celebration for Dawn and Ryan. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Seames and Great Grammie Myrtle Bacon. This was postponed so Grandpa Stearns could go.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason Jr. went Sunday to Togus Pond to visit their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Blake. Ruth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, went down Saturday and spent the night with their granddaughter and husband. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left for Oakland to spend the night with their son, Chris Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Anderson are having a prefab garage put onto their property. They now have two little baby pigs, one red, Rosebud; and one white, Snowball.

Avery and Mary Angevine asked his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine to go to Quebec City, Canada, with them. They left Wednesday and came back Thursday. On the way home they stopped in Steveston, N. H., and had supper with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Angevine.

Sharon Benson Kimball, Nita and Chantel, Waterford and Bradley Benson and Fern, Norway, "THANKS TO ALL"

My sincere thanks to my family and friends for the many telephone calls, lovely cards, flowers and visits made during my stay in the hospital and on my return home. The consideration and concern extended to me is priceless. One of my most precious assets is to be amongst folks that are so helpful and understanding to their fellowmen. Words cannot express my true feeling of appreciation to you all. Thank you and God Bless each and everyone of you.

Sincerely,
Ethel Davis,

FRANKLIN GRANGE #124

The second of the three point meetings was held at Paris Grange April 21 with supper served by the host Grange, Lakeside Grange of Harrison, filled the chairs for the evening with Kenneth Butterfield acting as Master in the absence of Errol Briggs who was called away by service duty.

Franklin Grange put on the following program:

As it was Easter week the first number was a song "In the Garden" followed by a poem "Be Still Before the Lord" by the Chaplain, Edith Hathaway.

In remembrance of Patriots Day which fell on April 19, Vera Swann, dressed in white, held the American flag on the stage while the audience sang "Star Spangled Banner" and "America the Beautiful". Then Mildred O'Brien held the flag out so all could see the 50 stars, and eight members, Ethel Mackenzie, Ruby Emery, Milton Mills, Edith Hathaway, Eva Mills, Rachel Mills, Carl Brooks, Richard Felt, and Harris Hathaway, read about the states that joined the Union at different times and the group that came in together.

The last number was a skit called "The Drawing Card for the Grange," written by the lecturer of Franklin Grange for the State Grange Lecturer, June Burke. This was on a balanced program planned by a committee and carried out with numbers like this: Theme song, "Praying Hands"; Roll call, "What Does the Grange mean to you?"; a poem, "Grange Fraternity," by Olive Davis. Special music by Richard Felt, harmonica, and Carl Brooks.

Legislature question, "How can we help the Legislators realize they are representatives of the people and in spending our money our wish is for a balanced budget each year." A contest of passing candy kisses from one pin to another one down a line of five and back in the quickest time by 10 members in the audience sang "Star Spangled Banner" and "America the Beautiful". The Grange creed was read. The song "The Long Grange Trail" was rendered in closing the skit.

There was a lot of ad-libbing going on to the meritment of the Grangers. Sixty members and visitors were present.

The last of the three point meetings will be May 12 when Paris will put on the program and Franklin will hold the chairs at Lakeside Grange.

Pretty Garden and Ugly Backaches

There's nothing more flattering to a home than a well-kept yard, well trimmed shrubs, and well-tended flower beds. Likewise, a vegetable garden that produces a bumper crop of tomatoes, turnips and green beans is most flattering to its owner. . . and a good pastime. . . sometimes. Unfortunately, all too often it is painful for its participants.

Before garden buffs get up in arms and wrap a garden hose around a wricker who would even suggest that working with Mother Earth could be anything but the most productive and satisfying hobby in the world, let me explain.

Gardening and landscaping are great, if you recognize that they are activities that produce certain body stresses; if you recognize your own physical limitations; and if you do them with good sense as well as enthusiasm.

Most people hibernate all winter. Then, at the first sign of spring, try to make their lawns or gardens the most attractive on the block—all in one day. They dig, dig, dig, trim, trim, trim, . . . lift, lift, lift, bend, bend, bend. The result is,ouch, ouch, OUCH! Their backs hurt, their muscles ache, and they wonder why.

Although gardening does not use tremendous surges of energy or force the body into shock situations as might be required by activities like competitive sports, it should be recognized that the health threat may be just as serious. Many health disorders are the result of awkward posture positions, use of muscles not conditioned for the activity, and overexertion. Not necessarily accidents.

Doctors of chiropractic, whose health-care services emphasize the structural integrity of the body and concern for those health disorders related to the spine and nervous system, offer the following "golden rules" of gardening.

—Warm up your muscles to a task a few minutes before you embark on a tough project.

—Don't bend over for long periods of time without taking standing breaks.

—Don't lift more than you can handle.

—Wear clothing that does not restrict or confine your movements.

—Wear flat, comfortable shoes that offer firm support.

—Use the proper tool for each job.

—Avoid becoming over-heated or chilled.

—Avoid doing your work in an awkward position.

—If you injure yourself or have aches and pains, see a health specialist immediately.

—As a preventive measure against health disorders which result from a strained or sprained spinal column, have periodic chiropractic examinations.

Don't let those beautiful chrysanthemums give you an ugly pain in the back!

MOTORISTS ALERTED TO ERRATIC ACTIONS BY CYCLISTS

Four or five children are killed in bicycle-motor vehicle accidents in Maine each year and many more are seriously injured.

"More than three-fourths of the bicyclists killed or injured were violating a traffic law at the time of the accident," said Commissioner Arthur A. Stipphen of the Maine Department of Public Safety.

According to Commissioner Stipphen, "Bicycle safety is especially important because bicyclists vary greatly in experience, ability and in their compliance with safety requirements."

Motorists are advised to be especially on guard for bikes driven without lights at dusk and after dark. In addition Stipphen said youngsters on bicycles sometimes make unexpected moves, making it necessary for motorists to be alert whenever they are driving through an area where bike riders are present.

Maine's Public Safety Commissioner urges every bike rider to observe these rules: ride with traffic and keep far to the right; don't weave or stunt; ride in a straight line; never riding with friends on other bikes; ride single file; in traffic obey all signs, signals and traffic laws; never hitch on to passing vehicles. If you must ride at night, have a good light and clean reflector; and keep the bike in good condition.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION AT GOULD APRIL 27

On Friday, April 27, eight Gould Academy students were formally inducted into the National Honor Society.

Headmaster Donald W. Fudge began the ceremony by speaking about leadership, one of the five criteria used for selecting students for the National Honor Society.

Fudge stressed the need for school leadership on all levels—school, local, state and national. It is important for people to "stand up and be counted" if we are to continue to grow and prosper under our democratic style of government.

The high regard that the Gould Academy faculty have for the eight students selected is evidence that the students are willing to be leaders in the school and in their academic studies.

Each year a certain percentage of the junior and senior class are eligible for induction into the National Honor Society based on their academic grades. The faculty then votes on the selection, basing their vote on the five NHS ideals of character, leadership, scholarship, service and citizenship.

The results of the vote are kept secret until announced at the ceremony. Those students who were elected to the National Honor Society as juniors last year were Nancy Beane, Raymond, Darryl Butler and Matthew Carter, both from Dorchester, Mass.; and who were elected at the Hinkley School prior to its closing: Shawn Carroll, Gorham, N. H.; Peter Chandler, Bethel; Rachelle Dionne, Lovell; Robin Sprague, South Freeport; Lyneae Teague, Kittery Point; and Virginia Wheeler, Rockport, Mass.

The new inductees were announced by fellow NHS members Lynanne Teague and Virginia Wheeler as follows: Seniors, David Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Berry of Bethel, whose activities included being captain of the basketball and soccer teams and a proctor at Gould; Debra Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, Stowe, Vt., who served as captain of field hockey, most valuable player in both field hockey and basketball, track, drama and Yearbook.

Junior, Elizabeth deFrees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton deFrees, Rumford Center, who has been active in drama, Madrigal chorus, band and the Alliance Française; David Morang, son of Steven Morang, Carrahsang Valley, captain elect of the soccer team, the most outstanding Alpine skier at Gould and top Maine high school skier; and member of the Maine State Ski Team, Jane Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Lash, East Boothbay; and Paul Robinson, Springfield, Va., active in field hockey, softball, drama, Alliance Française and who will spend a term in France next year.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Would you say that we are what we eat—read and pay attention to? If we were given a label or name to describe us, would we be proud of it?

Each of us is a living show-case, displaying to others what we are; and often falling into a class or type of people with the result that we cannot find fault with ourselves. We must add here: it's not the mud of Maine on our shoes, the grease stained hand of an honest workman, nor broken finger nails and the unruly hair of a busy housewife—but our doings and what we say that label us.

God's Word, the Book of Books has much to say on labeling a person. The softie, Apostle Peter, was called "the rock" by Jesus—while the robust and rough fisherman John, was called "the beloved."

The Book of Titus has good advice:—Older men, be sound in faith, grave and temperate—Older women behave in holiness and good teaching—Younger women be discreet, keepers at home and young men be sober minded—workers be honest, etc.

God in ages past often changed the names of men—for example: Abram to Abraham—Jacob to Israel—names changed because they obeyed and loved the Lord.

In this day we do not see God changing names—we do see him changing the character of a person from nothingness, drunkenness and disbelief, envy and hate into a useful life denying ungodliness and worldly lusts—living soberly and righteously, a peculiar people—zealous of good works.

Wonder what label Jesus Christ would see on us—we are foolish, self righteous—perhaps hateful or do we show the kindness and love of God toward all men that Jesus so abundantly displayed?

What do people see in us? Fred Werner, Bethel Gospel Center, Christian Missionary Alliance

our PX and commissary it is easy to determine that many British and French are stocking up on Ameri-

The British duty train to West

British Headquarters are the former Olympic offices and houssurrounds the Olympic stadium.

Their airfield, Gatow was used extensively during the Airlift, al-

At that time the new larger airport was being built in the French sector and is Berlin's principal airport now: Tegel.

A car carrying four Russian soldiers drives daily around all areas. They have no set route, and the soldiers never leave the car or communicate with anyone. We hope one day to get a picture of them as they don't allow pictures to be taken of soldiers in East Berlin. Soldiers from the Allied Forces in West Berlin also make daily trips through Checkpoint Charlie to drive around East Berlin.

by all three countries as guards, secretaries, bus drivers, clerks, teachers, maintenance and con-instance, our housing is all built by German firms with the hope that should it ever be possible for us to leave Berlin or reduce the size of the forces here, these buildings would be signed over to the city of Berlin.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Karen L. Brown

Week of April 23, 1979

With only slightly more than 30 days remaining in this legislative session, there are still 900 bills remaining in the legislative committee which have not yet been acted on. Almost 1,600 bills have been introduced to date, only 143 of which have been enacted and another 346 of which have been killed. In some sense, the Legislature is progressing more rapidly than it did two years ago. It is expected that we will adjourn around June 8th, if no extensions are voted, whereas two years ago the session extended into July.

State Employee Pay Raise Issue Becomes Stalled

For the third time this week the state employees pay raise compromise bill was defeated in the House. That compromise which had been earlier approved in the Senate has now been stalled for nearly a week. The compromise which had been worked out between the Governor and union leaders would place the controversy over whether state employees should be forced to pay 80% of the union dues or be fired from their jobs into the courts, where the issue could be decided. The compromise also included about $10,000 in state money which would be used to pay the state employees' legal expenses.

Disagreement over the compromise centers around several points: 1. The Legislature has never passed a law to permit union security clauses in state employee contracts, and thus, the Governor did not have authority to include the 80% union dues clause. 2. The court does not have the authority to make law, only to interpret it. Since there is no law concerning union security or "fair share" clauses, the Legislature should deal with this issue, not the courts. 3. Some question whether any citizen should be forced to pay tribute to a union for the privilege of working for their own government, or face being fired from the jobs. 4. Many legal experts believe that $10,000 in state funds to assist state employees in battling this issue in the courts would be insufficient. The total legal costs could run into hundreds of thousands, and the court battle could last for many years before being settled. Many do not wish to commit the Maine taxpayers to a long term and expensive legal battle, believing that it should be taken care of by the Legislature, and not paid for by the taxpayers.

The Speaker of the House decided to recall the issue every day for a vote, believing that sooner or later, the 101 votes needed for passage would be obtained. But each day the vote in favor of the compromise gets smaller even with the pressure that has been applied. Votes really began to erode after the rear window of Rep. Garsoe's car was smashed during a demonstration. Also having to cross state employees picket lines and to tolerate the verbal abuse added to the tension.

Late this week, the Governor recognized that the stalemate was not likely to be broken, and asked that the House table the bill for a few days, while the question is posed to the court as to whether the "fair share" clause is legal. It is doubtful that a positive response from the court will change many votes, as many lawmakers do not believe that the courts should be writing the laws—that is the constitutional right of the Legislature.

Union Supporters Show Heavy Turn Out at "Right to Work" Hearing

There is no question that labor issues dominated the debate this week. As hundreds of state workers were ordered back to work after a one-day walk-out, union workers from private firms turned out in large numbers to rally against "Right to Work" legislation at a legislative public hearing. Basically, "Right to Work" legislation prohibits labor contracts which require compulsory union membership or compulsory union dues in order to hold a job. Twenty states in the country have passed "Right to Work" laws, and propo-

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —

Alva Morrison spent part of the week with friends in Norway. Darnita Yates came home from Barre, Vt., Tuesday as she had to take her car to Portland for a check up.

The Fleet boys were in Norway Friday, taking drivers' tests. All passed.

Spring surely is here as a pair of blue birds were looking over the house, Thursday.

Our rain this week was over three inches. Roads and fields were all flooded as rivers had much more than they could carry.

ents of this bill hope that Maine will become the 21st.

Union defended so-called "closed shops" arguing that they are required to represent members and non-members alike, and it is only fair that everyone help pay the expenses. Such "closed shops" are an important source of reliable income for the unions, since the dues are mandatory.

Even though Gov. Brennan has promised to veto any "Right to Work" bill which reaches his desk, union leaders throughout Maine still made a major effort this Wednesday to get a large turnout at the public hearing, hoping to defeat the bill in committee. Civic Center Officials estimated the crowd at about 3,400 people.

Stiff Mandatory Penalties for Drunk Driving Being Considered
A bill to set a mandatory $250 fine for drunk driving received support at a public hearing this week. Current law allows judges to set a maximum fine of $1,000 but does not establish a minimum. Last year 242 persons were killed and more than 14,000 injured in alcohol related auto accidents. If this bill should pass, judges would be given little discretion in disposing of drunk driving cases, and would be compelled to impose at least the minimum fine.

How Much Taxable Profit?

When you sell your home at a profit, the difference between the cost and the selling price is taxable (unless you defer it by buying a more expensive home). The important cost basis is the sum of the original cost plus the dollar-value of improvements and selling expenses. Although the average homeowner can usually determine the amount originally paid for the home, he usually lacks information regarding improvements which have been made during ownership. Amounts spent for replacements, alterations or improvements which increased the value of the property can be added to the original cost basis to determine the gain or loss at sale. Not only should the homeowner know the dollar amounts of the improvements, he should be able to substantiate these facts in the event of an IRS examination. So keep the records and check stubs.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at EARLY REAL ESTATE, 60 Main St., Bethel. Phone: 824-2122, 824-2579. We're here to help!

And the frogs began their songs, deep in the heart of wetness. These trilling peepers, from the edge of the pond, as evening comes, send out their musical calls. I heard one, then another, and another and another. Their bright callings say, "Spring! Spring!" They'll chant through the night for weeks. I wonder how so small a creature can produce such a far-carrying call. Near-by the sound is a din of disorganized camp sound but a little distance away, e-p-

Quite a good deal has happened since my last entry. The storm windows are off and the screens are on. ALL the ice has left the pond. The kingfishers have arrived. The swallows have chosen a house. And the frogs began their songs, deep in the heart of wetness. These trilling peepers, from the edge of the pond, as evening comes, send out their musical calls. I heard one, then another, and another, and another. Their bright callings say, "Spring! Spring!" They'll chant through the night for weeks. I wonder how so small a creature can produce such a far-carrying call. Near-by the sound is a din of disorganised sound but a little distance away, it is rich with the warmth of spring. A note unmatched; and year after year I listen for it and welcome it.

An April shower ended soon after daybreak.

A purple finch sang on a branch outside my window, pouring out his gushing warble. As I often watch the malefinch among the masses of maples, billowing up in filmy cloud like tinges of red; the two seem to merge together. The color of the little song birds match almost exactly.

Out on the lawn, in small gleaming drops, collected water shown as the sun hit upon it.

As the day passed, it warmed up and the grass dried.

In the woods mid afternoon I caught the sound, "wheep, wheeflycatcher had arrived. He is a hard to see bird.

Beautiful and impressive contrasts met me everywhere; rock and sky, light and shade, tangled and supple bushes, trees about as rugged as the granite ledges, and ferns where the sunbeams fell.

Some of the mountains in the distance leaned back in majestic repose, others rose in thoughtful attitudes, heedless of everything that was about.

Crossing by a woods road where once was a stand of trees, I found a roughly square jumble of rotting logs; all that remained of a former log operation. Much of the road had become tangles of upstart trees and there was the haunting sound of a brook. It carried for a surprising distance through the woods.

Nearer home I dropped down on a mound and swung my field glasses on a wide arc. A great bird flapped its way over the pond. The first heron of spring. It settled down on shore.

The world everywhere was young again; refreshed from its long sleep. It had thrown off its sluggishness awakened by the recent rain.

Now, as this goes out, it's the final day of April. Tomorrow's dawn is another month. Tomorrow is MAY.

On Saturday morning we were up at four thirty. I met other members of Delta Kappa Gamma Zeta Chapter, in West Paris and we drove to the Ramada Inn in Bangor for the Alpha Psi State convention, leaving at six o'clock. It was rainy and wet everywhere but inside there were flowers, sunshine and fun. We were home again before it was quite time to push our clocks ahead to daylight saving time.

Doris Hayes attended the banquet for the Sunday night bowling league at the Positively Main Street restaurant on Sunday evening and received the trophy for high triple for the year.

On Saturday, Ardell Hayes, Auburn; Duane Hayes, son, Scot and two daughters, West Paris, were at the Hayes farm.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis have been Phil Bentley, Auburn; Mrs. Lucy Bragg and son, Tommy.

Two members of Club Eight were absent when we met with Fay Holt last Tuesday. The hostess gift went to Katie Tamminen. Dorothy Curtis celebrated her birthday on April 24, going to Bob and Margaret Record and family have arrived on Sitka Island, Alaska. The trip took eleven days and 30 hours on the ferry.

Steve Wilson, a student at Orono, visited his mother, Gloria Wilson, over the week end.

Muriel Gilbert came home from the hospital, Monday.

NEW TELEPHONE DIAL OFFICE FOR LOCKE MILLS EXCHANGE

At the time of conversion, only those customers who have requested new private lines will require number changes. Party line customers will remain on the same lines and will keep their present numbers, as will existing private line customers.

Because of the weight of dial switching equipment, there were several unique design specifications which had to be considered in the construction of the 12' x 30' mobile unit. The trailer itself was manufactured in early February by Artercraft of New Hampshire, Inc., of Concord, using a made-to-order steel frame by Ribco, Inc., of upstate New York. While the normal mobile home is built to withstand a weight of approximately 40 pounds per square foot, the telephone company required support for up to 125 pounds per square foot. Other factors included the necessity for a ceiling 9' 6" high, the use of 2" x 6" joists, six inches of insulation in the walls for energy conservation, and four steel doors for ease of moving equipment in and out. A 100 amp electric service will furnish power to charge batteries needed to run the dial equipment, together with a Westinghouse heat pump for climate control, one of the most cost-efficient means of regulating the temperature on a year-round basis.

According to the telephone company, there will be no change in the method of dialing local or long distance calls, or calls to other telephones on your party line. Customers may notice a slight change in the sound of the dial tone, the ringing signal and the busy signal, however. Arrangements are now underway to have the lot around the mobile unit landscaped and seeded, and to have a skirt placed around the base of the building. If all goes as planned, the change to the new office is scheduled to take place within the next two or three weeks.

BLAKE - BEDARD

On Saturday afternoon, April 14,

Robert L. Blake and Cynthia J. Bedard were united in marriage by Rev. Ronald McKinstry, pastor of the Bethel United Methodist Church, at their home in Bethel.

Their attendants were Miss Deborah A. St. Pierre, sister of the bride, Fitzwilliam, N. H., and brother of the groom, Lee J. Blake of Augusta. Other family members attended the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver St. Pierre of Bethel and the groom the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Blake, Bethel, and the late Ernest G. Blake. Mr. Blake is self-employed in the logging business and is president of E. G. Blake & Son.

Following a two week wedding trip to St. Louis, Mo., and Phoenix, Ariz., they are at their home on Middle Intervale Road.

MYF SPONSORING BREAD SALE

The Youth Fellowship of the Bethel United Methodist Church will be baking bread on Saturday, May 5, at the church.
